Russian foreign policy objectives. And also, he observed that Russia is promoting BRICS for the following reasons:

- To coordinate affirmatively of BRICS countries in political, economical, secure, cultural, social, and environmental protection through an alliance ranks.
- To draw in one group of all the countries for sharing civilizational foundation alliances between current members.
- You are synchronizing decision-making in international politics within the BRICS group.
- To reform global organizations like UNSC, IMF, and World Bank for equal representation of all civilizations.
- It would establish a common market and economic coordination zone for BRICS.
- The creation of a BRICS shared security framework (Ivashov 2014).

Scholar Boris Volkohnsky, the head of the Asian Department at the Russian Institute for Strategic Studies, says that the BRICS group membership consists of multiple regions like South America and Africa. The BRICS group should cooperate on copious regional and global issues so that the cooperation among nations creates a new format to solve common problems (Huaxia 2015). Most of the time, bilateral ties affect multilateral relations. Therefore, as a member, Russia will have the opportunity to coordinate with them. Further, scholar Goergy Toloraya (2015) says that by participating in BRICS, Russia will gain the following benefits:

- International Monetary and Financial Institutions like the IMF and World Bank are fairer, more stable, and more effective.
- BRICS could help secure peace and security based on states' sovereignty and territorial integrity, and non-interference in their internal affairs.
- It will succor in consolidating the multi-vector nature of its foreign policy.
- Over some time, the group can develop privileged bilateral relations with other BRICS members.
- The BRICS will broaden Russia's linguistic, cultural, and informational presence (Toloraya 2015).[37]

Further, the involvement of Russia in the BRICS group will help initiate regular contact with Brazil and South Africa because, anyways, Russia,
