issue, Snowden, and Ukraine crisis plunged Russian and Western relations to the nadir level (Akulov 2013).

At the same time, the profound change that occurred in world politics was the downfall of the enormous power status of the global north, due to the West's military and political failure in Afghanistan, Libya, and Iraq, and its economic collapse due to the financial crisis in 2008–09. It came out as a painful blow to the West (Karaganov 2014). Therefore, Russia's emphasis was on BRICS's role in preserving global peace, security, and stability, including its region. It indicated the following in the 2013 Concept of the Russian Federation's participation in the BRICS: Coordination*:* BRICS coordinate with each other on positions related to strategic stability, international and regional security, and settlement of regional conflicts, non-proliferation of weapons, mass destruction, and the maintenance of separate regional peace (ibid.).[38]

Combating Terrorism: BRICS can provide a common approach to international combat terrorism. It says there is a need to strengthen cooperation with the UN's role in the fight against international terrorism and strive to implement the UN Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy and strict compliance with provisions of the relevant UNSC resolutions (ibid.).[39]

Anti-Drug Trafficking: With the membership of BRICS, Russia can make one agree upon approaches to combating illicit trafficking of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and their precursors through the help of joint actions in the UN and regional organizations (ibid.).[40]

Information Security: to use the BRICS group while cooperating to ensure international information security, and use its potential for advancing initiatives in various international forums and organizations, primarily in the UN (ibid.).[41]

Prosecuting Pirates: The BRICS platform can help Russia bring cooperation to combat maritime piracy and build a judicial mechanism containing an international component to ensure prosecution and punishment of pirates.

Dialogue: The Concept said that this platform would help develop a mechanism for exchange, thus elaborating joint proposals and coordinating practical actions in international security. It would improve regular meetings of high representatives (ibid.).[42]
