5 The position paper of the Chinese has called for global cooperation for cyber security and for eradication of terrorism, and voiced concern for rising global problems in global affairs in many number of regions [Online: web], accessed on January 19, 2017, http://www.fmprc.gov.cn/mfa_eng/wjdt_665385/2649_665393/t1395489.shtml.

6 It was an agreement signed between 35 countries in 1975 that concluded the conference on security and cooperation in Europe, and was held at Helsinki in Finland. The act addressed important global issues, and in doing so, had a far-reaching effect on the Cold War and on US–USSR relations.

7 This act was signed by Russia and NATO in 1997. According to this act, the NATO should not establish any military base in Eastern Europe.

8 According to the memorandum, Presidents of Ukraine, Russia, US, and the Prime Minister of the UK signed three memorandums (UN Document A/49/765) on December 5, 1994, with the accession of Ukraine to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons. The provision of this memorandum gave national security to Belarus, Kazakhstan and Ukraine.

9 This was signed by the United States of America and Soviet Union on December 8, 1987. According to this treaty provision, both the parties have to destroy ground-launched ballistic and cruise missiles within the range of 500 and 5500 km, their launchers, associated support structures, and support equipment within three years after the treaty came into force.