4 The group G-20 was formed in 1999. It is an international forum that brings together the world's industrialized and emerging economies, and consists of 85 percent of the world's GDP and two-thirds of the global population.

5 It was formed in 2009 in Yekaterinburg, Russia. Earlier, it was known as BRIC before South Africa became a member.

6 The process of establishing BRICS new development bank started in 2012 New Delhi BRICS summit and it was materialized in 2014 BRICS Fortaleza summit and established formally in 2015 with authorized capital of US$100 billion. But, the initial capital shall be US$50 billion equally shared by all its founding members. The basic objective of the BRICS new development is to provide infrastructure and sustainable developmental aid to the BRICS countries and other emerging countries as well.

7 It was established in 1964, on June 15, by 77 developing countries. These countries are the signatories of the 'Joint Declaration of the Seventy-Seven Developing Countries,' issued at the end of the first session of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development in Geneva, abbreviated as UNCTAD.

8 Having or relating to single pole or kind of polarity.

9 SCO is an inter-governmental organization, established in 2001, and consisting of six members, which includes China, Russia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, and Uzbekistan. It is a political, economic, and military alliance of these countries.

10 IBSA is a coordinating mechanism among three emerging multi-ethnic and multi-cultural democracies. These are India, Brazil, and South Africa. It was established in June 2003.

11 BASIC consists of Brazil, South Africa, India, and China. The unity of these countries came together during the Copenhagen Climate Change Conference in 2009.

12 Realpolitik is about material wealth, with a greater emphasis on capital in the economy, rather than ideology, and its relationship with legitimacy, influence, and authority. In a realpolitik discourse, these material aspects combine together in order to achieve desired outcomes.