Acknowledgments

First and foremost, I would like to express my sincerest gratitude to my supervisor. Prof. Anuradha M. Chenoy, whose keen supervision, able guidance, and steadfast support have made this work a success. I am incredibly grateful to her for the utmost care, and enormous trust bestowed on me. I owe solemn gratitude to all of my Center for Russian and Central Asian Studies teachers, JNU, for their solicitous nature, amicability guidance during my research, and their critical role in inculcating in me a great interest in this beautiful and dynamic area of study.

Though only my name appears on the cover, many grateful people have contributed to its production. Their valuable assistance and adequate guidance have aided in completing the thesis. A special thanks to University Grant Commission (UGC) for providing Fellowship for five years and the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) for granting financial support for the field trip. I want to express my heartfelt thanks to Vera Nikolaevna, International Department, Institute of Asian and African Studies, Moscow State University (MSU), for providing accommodation at MSU hostel during the field trip in Moscow, Russia.

I want to thank all the experts who have validated the field survey for my research. Professor Eugenia Vanina, Institute of Oriental Studies, Russian Academy of Sciences, Moscow, Prof. Alexander Sergunin, School of International Relations, St. Petersburg State University, Nikolai Fedorov, Associate Professor, American Studies Department, School of International Relations, St. Petersburg State University, Alexei D. Voskressenski, Dean, School of Political Affairs, Moscow University of International Relations, Russian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Dr. Ekaterina Koldunova, Associate Professor, Deputy Dean, School of Political Affairs, Senior Expert, ASEAN Centre, Moscow University of International Relations, Russian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Dr. Andrey Sushentsov, Associate Professor, Department of Applied Analysis of International Problems, School of Political Science, Moscow University of International Relations, Russian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Dr. Anna Kireeva, Deputy Dean, Associate Professor, Department of Asian and African Studies, School of Political Affairs, Moscow University of International Relations, Russian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Prof. Tatiana Shaumyan, Head of the Center for Indian Studies, Institute of Oriental Studies, Russian Academy of Sciences, Prof. Aleksandra Sergeeva,