A Sinuous Juxtaposition

Movement through the store is choreographed with artistic precision. Suspended directly beneath the historic timber roof hangs Dean's favourite feature, a breathtaking, kinetic installation of origami-like metal birds. It acts as a fluid, biophilic juxtaposition to the sharp, linear and structured fractal architecture below. To anchor the project to its roots, Dean completely bypassed foreign imports. Every single hand-blown glass piece on the birds was fabricated locally in Mumbai.

Ultimately, Dean has created something far richer than a store. By honouring Mumbai's manufacturing past and pairing raw steel with local timber and mathematical beauty, they have built a sanctuary where craft is not just sold, but revered.
