German Precision in the Bath

Want to make your bathroom stand out? Duravit's latest global offerings are designed to make the most private space in your home shine

Quiet luxury does not make a brash entrance; it wins you over quietly through calmness, longevity, and timeless design. Against this backdrop, sanitaryware pioneer German bathroom brand Duravit introduces Collection One. Designed by Studio F. A. Porsche, this landmark range combines minimalist aesthetics with the highest quality to create spaces that outlast short-lived trends, transforming the bathroom into an ultimate private sanctuary of wellbeing.

Rigorous Simplicity and Long-Term Value
Duravit's Collection One blends sleek lines with functional sophistication. "We adopted the basic approach of the legendary Porsche 911—an iconic design born from rigorous simplicity," explains Henning Rieseler, Design Director at Studio F. A. Porsche. This synergy creates a deeply emotional, sensual design language. Beyond pure aesthetics, investing in Duravit is a conscious commitment to durability and sustainability, ensuring long-term enjoyment and genuine functional benefits for the Indian home.

Two distinct design concepts showcase how Duravit's Collection One harmonises into modern, calm interiors.

Concept 1: Clarity and Contrast
This layout thrives on a clean architectural structure offset by gentle accents. The centrepiece washing area features a stark, elegant interplay of white and anthracite. An anthracite-coloured niche cuts between a generously proportioned Duravit ceramic washbasin and white drawers, adding dramatic visual depth.

This smart storage logic extends to the illuminated mirrored cabinet and tall case-door cabinet. On the inside, they keep essentials neatly organised, while exterior anthracite niches provide striking tonal contrasts. A restrained wall-mounted toilet, a bathtub framed by a functional half-open wall, and premium matt stainless-steel faucets complete this sophisticated, sensual space.

Concept 2: Warm Colour Harmony
Gentle beige, sand, and taupe shades give this alternative bathroom setup a warm, perceptible depth. Matte black details provide sharp graphical structure without disrupting the overall visual tranquility.

The centrepiece is a gently shaped above-counter basin resting on a floating, monochrome vanity unit. A matching mirror element with an open shelf and integrated lighting rounds out the washing zone. Nearby, the bathtub beautifully mirrors the basin's soft contours. Black faucets, a matching flush plate, and a shower area shielded by a glass-brick wall create a masterclass in creative consistency.
