

▲ TILL AUG. 18 | Kalakriti Art Gallery, Hyderabad

LIMINAL THRESHOLD

Curated by Ruchi Sharma, the show presents a contemplative body of work by Sumit Sarkar. Familiar domestic objects, layered surfaces and mythological references become vehicles for reflection, creating evocative spaces where personal histories and collective cultural memories converge in moments suspended between reality, imagination and emotional experience.

▶ TILL JUL. 18 |
Experimenter, Mumbai

SOHRAB HURA: A WINTER SUMMER

Bringing together four significant bodies of work, the exhibition surveys nearly two decades of Sohrab Hura's engagement with landscape, labour, memory and social realities. From the snow-covered terrains of Kashmir to the parched villages of Madhya Pradesh, it examines how place, politics and lived experience intersect, revealing the contradictions and inequalities often concealed beneath nationhood and belonging.

▼ TILL JUL. 31 | National Gallery of Modern Art, Mumbai

Marathi Chitrapat

Celebrating more than a century of Marathi cinema, Marathi Chitrapat: Stories and Stardom traces the evolution of one of India's most influential film industries through archival photographs, posters, publications and memorabilia. Curated by Neha Kamat, the exhibition highlights legendary actors, filmmakers and photographers, while exploring the cultural and visual history that shaped Maharashtra's cinematic identity.

◀ TILL OCT. 18 | Hayward Gallery, London

Anish Kapoor

Occupying the entirety of the Hayward Gallery, this major exhibition surveys the immersive and monumental practice of Anish Kapoor. Alongside iconic mirror sculptures and works employing Vantablack, the exhibition introduces recent paintings, sculptures and large-scale installations that challenge perception and spatial awareness. Marking the Southbank Centre's 75th anniversary, the show reaffirms Kapoor's notable influence on contemporary sculpture and installation art.

—compiled by Nikhil Sardana