

Dreams Woven into ENTERPRISE

The enduring legacy of Bharat Tex is woven into the dreams of millions who have carried India's textile heritage from quiet workshops to the world's marketplaces.

Every thread has a memory. It carries the touch of an artisan who learnt the craft from a parent. It carries the hope of a small entrepreneur who believed that a product made in a modest workshop could one day travel across oceans.

For generations, India's textile story has lived in villages, towns and manufacturing clusters. It has flourished in the rhythm of handlooms, the colours of natural dyes and the quiet confidence of family enterprises. Their skill was never in question. What they lacked was a window to the world.

Bharat Tex opened that window

Created as India's first unified global textile platform, it brought the entire textile value chain under one roof. It gave Indian MSMEs an opportunity to present their product innovation, craftsmanship and manufacturing excellence directly to global brands, retailers and buyers. It placed India's makers where they belonged, at the centre of the global conversation.

A Nation Woven in Enterprise

The timing was perfect. As global supply chains evolved, buyers searched for trusted and sustainable partners. India was ready.

The country's textile sector contributes 2.3 per cent to India's GDP, accounts for 13 per cent of industrial production and generates 12 per cent of the nation's export earnings. Nearly 50 million people earn their livelihood through this sector, making it the second largest source of employment after agriculture. India is also the world's second largest producer of cotton, polyester, viscose and silk, and the sixth largest exporter of textiles and apparel.

Yet these numbers reveal only part of the story. The real strength of Indian textiles lies in its people. In women preserving centuries old weaving traditions. In artisans keeping heritage alive. In young entrepreneurs blending tradition with innovation. Bharat Tex gave them a place where craftsmanship met opportunity and tradition found global recognition.

Where Dreams Found Buyers

The first edition in 2024 marked a defining moment. Held across Bharat Mandapam and Yashobhoomi in New Delhi, the event spread across nearly two lakh square metres with thousands of exhibitors showcasing their capabilities before over 3,000 buyers from more than 100 countries. More than one lakh trade and business visitors attended.

Bharat Tex 2025 built on that momentum. It welcomed 9,900 buyers, including over 6,100 international buyers from more than 140 countries. Behind every number stood a human story. A first export order. A new partnership. An artisan discovering a global audience. An MSME finding the confidence to dream bigger. That is the true legacy of Bharat Tex. It cannot be measured only in exhibition space or business statistics. It is measured in lives transformed and possibilities realised.

The Next Chapter

Every successful journey inspires another.

With Government's major policy push with various schemes including PM MITRA Parks, PLI Scheme, National Technical Textiles Mission, National Fibre Mission, Samarth 2.0, Tex-Eco Initiative, Textiles Expansion and Employment Scheme among others, the Sector is well poised to witness exponential growth. In addition, the recent flurry of FTAs India has signed with key consuming markets across the work, the textiles sector is expected to witness unprecedented market access.

From 14 to 17 July 2026, Bharat Tex returns to Bharat Mandapam in New Delhi for its third and most ambitious edition. Spread across more than 1,60,000 square metres, it will bring together thousands of exhibitors, more than 7,000 international buyers from over 140 countries and upwards of 1,30,000 visitors.

A Global Textile Dialogue featuring over 100 knowledge sessions will bring together policymakers, industry leaders, innovators and global experts to shape conversations around trade, sustainability, investment and the future of textiles.

As India moves towards building a US$350 billion textile industry by 2030 with an export target of US$100 billion, Bharat Tex continues to strengthen the country's place in the global textile landscape.

The finest fabric has never been woven with thread alone. It is woven with faith, resilience and imagination. That is the legacy of Bharat Tex. Every loom carries possibility. Every artisan carries a story. Every enterprise carries the promise of taking India's timeless craft to the world.
