Day-Date 40 in Jubilee Gold with Light Green Aventurine Dial

The Day-Date has never been shy, but this 2026 edition gives its authority a more seductive surface. Its 40mm Oyster case and President bracelet are fashioned from Jubilee Gold, Rolex's new 18-carat alloy glowing with yellow, grey and pink undertones. Against it, the light green aventurine dial feels almost cosmic, its natural veining ensuring no two examples are identical. Ten baguette-cut diamonds replace conventional hour markers without cluttering the composition. Beneath the glamour, calibre 3255 supplies instantaneous day and date displays, Superlative Chronometer precision, 100-metre water resistance and around 70 hours of power. The result, of course, is a status symbol with surprisingly nuanced colour.
