THE TERMINAL

Jodhpur Airport's new passenger terminal, which was inaugurated on July 4, is an unabashed homage to Rajasthani architecture. The architectural studio, Sthapati, eschewed the glass-and-chrome approach popular with airports, instead embracing round domes, multifoil arches, an intricately textured facade and soaring columns. At 24,000 sq. metres, the terminal has an annual capacity of two million passengers. The cheerful interiors feature regional artworks, murals and crafts by local artists. Regional touches include vibrant peacocks and scenes from royal courts. The terminal truly captures the essence of Rajasthan.
