Restrained and Tactile Material Palette

To maintain a meditative atmosphere, we consciously restrained our material palette. Massive 6'x3' Kota stone slabs cover the flooring, introducing a seamless visual continuity and subtle tactile quality. We introduced warmth and softness through the extensive use of light oak wood and oak veneers across custom furniture details.

Curated Textures

We anchored the living spaces with custom oak wood sofas and lounge chairs featuring woven cane detailing, muted olive-green upholstery and soft neutral fabrics that mirror warm Japandi tones. A standout feature is the handcrafted console with baluster-inspired legs, finished in earthy shades of olive green, taupe, terracotta, and plum. Instead of massive openings, we used small arched cutouts to create translucent visual connections between the living room, dining space and the corridor leading to the staircase.

Architectural Details

The residence incorporates several bespoke elements that reinforce its organic architectural language. In the dining space, we used organically shaped furniture, wicker chairs and custom live-edge details to strengthen the celebration of natural forms. Custom-designed blinds feature hand embroidery inspired by Japanese culture, depicting Mount Fuji, symbolic bird motifs and cranes against red suns to weave subtle storytelling into the rooms.

Sacred Minimalism

We envisioned the pooja room as a serene, meditative space that blends spirituality with calm minimalism. Natural stone surfaces, brass-finished storage shutters and subtle handcrafted details introduce warmth without overpowering the design. An adjacent fluted glass partition softly filters light and visibility, maintaining privacy while adding a translucent, layered effect. The focal point of the space is a hand-engraved white marble backdrop inspired by radiating circular patterns, creating a symbolic sense of energy, balance, and spiritual focus around the deity.

Private Paradise

The residence comprises two private bedrooms. The master suite is designed as a private retreat, it
