WATCH TREND

Certified Time

Watch brands start to offer certified pre-owned timepieces alongside their new collections.

Sophie Furley

Over the last two decades, the pre-owned watch market has grown from a network of small-time wheelers and dealers and grey market agents to a booming business that has been embraced by everyone from the prestigious auction houses to multi-brand retailers, and now even the watch brands themselves.

