

MOOD OF THE NATION POLL

with a paltry 1.7 per cent. The survey reiterates that Rahul Gandhi is best suited among Opposition leaders to head the INDIA bloc against the NDA. Rahul's performance as leader of the Opposition remains high, with 44 per cent judging it to be 'good' or 'outstanding', though it's a drop from 50.3 per cent in August 2025. His vote chori campaign seems to have struck a chord, with 40 per cent saying it is an issue of concern. But the perception of Congress as the real Opposition party is diminishing, with more than 60 per cent of the respondents seeing the Grand Old Party as the weakest link in the INDIA bloc.

drop in unemployment as the govt's biggest failure, from 27.1 per cent in the Aug. 2025 MOTN to 16.6 per cent now

Q. Why do you think political stability matters for India at this point?

- Because political stability enables decisive leadership and faster decision-making — 27
- Because of recent unrest and frequent government changes in neighbouring countries such as Sri Lanka, Bangladesh and Nepal — 21
- Because of a fractured Opposition that doesn't inspire confidence of stable governance — 17
- Because of global developments marked by armed conflicts and economic disruptions — 15
- All of these — 13
