Q. How do you rate the quality of roads and infrastructure development in India?

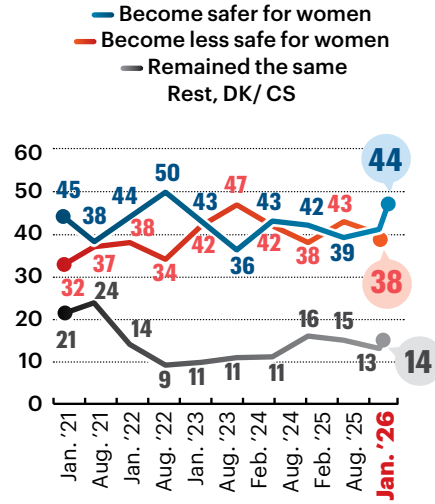

The share of respondents rating road infrastructure as "excellent" has increased

Q. How would you rate the quality of public transport systems in urban India?

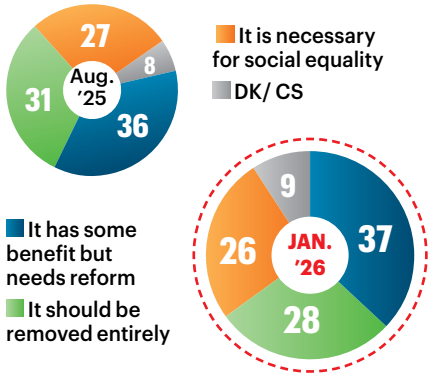

Public transport also receives a similar vote of approval from MOTN respondents

Q. Has India become safer or less safe for women?

Safety for women has respondents sharply divided, though more feel an improvement

39% Respondents from lower income groups are likely to send their children to government schools, compared to only 20 per cent from higher income groups

Q. What is your opinion on caste-based reservation in higher education and government jobs?

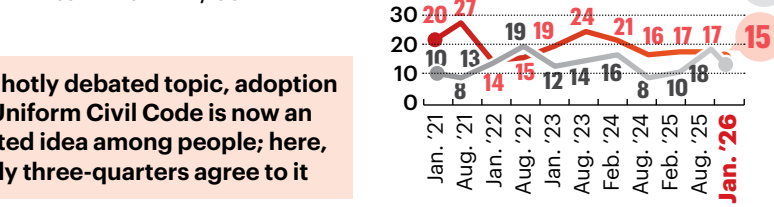

Over 60 per cent of the MOTN respondents see merit in caste-based affirmative action in India

Q. Who is to be blamed for Delhi's air pollution?

In the perception game, Manmohan's stock rises, Modi takes a modest fall

Q. Should a Uniform Civil Code be implemented in India?

Once a hotly debated topic, adoption of a Uniform Civil Code is now an accepted idea among people; here, nearly three-quarters agree to it

All figures in % and rounded off; DK/ CS: Don't know/ can't say