MARDAANI 3

Rani Mukerji is the speed-walking super-cop saving India's daughters yet again. The villain is a dastardly trafficking queenpin, played by Mallika Prasad. Expect much agonising over how India treats its girls, cut with police procedural bits led by Mukerji's fuming face and 'punch' dialogues.

TU YAA MAIN

Adarsh Gourav plays a street-smart rapper, Shanaya Kapoor a SoBo influencer. Drawn to each other, they go for a trip where they get stuck in a dried pool with an alligator. The director is the extremely stylish if erratic Bejoy Nambiar.

Love Insurance Kompany

The year is 2040, and true love has ceased to exist, except for the hero, played by Pradeep Ranganathan, in this Tamil flick. The ladylove here is Krithi Shetty. They are looking for romance that is pure. But will the antagonist, the head of a dating app-like company, played by S.J. Suryah, allow their true love to endure? Science fiction meets romantic schmaltz.

Kohrra 2

Something is rotten in the state of Punjab. There's a body. And there are the cops—played by Barun Sobti and Mona Singh. But since the creator is Sudip Sharma (Udta Punjab, Paatal Lok), the murders are a smokescreen for investigating societal rot.
