1985 – 1995

India was questioning identity, politics, and opportunity. As cable TV changed living rooms and reforms stirred in the corridors of power, a new economic imagination was born. Aditya Birla Group began reshaping sectors like textiles, aluminium, and education – proving that inclusion and ambition could co-exist.

For every churn, a compass. A Force for Good.