

> “Uttar Pradesh is setting new benchmarks in manufacturing. Over the past decade, India has emerged as the world’s second largest producer of electronics and mobile phones, and Uttar Pradesh has played a major role in this growth. Nearly 55 per cent of all mobile phones manufactured in India are produced in the state.”

UTTAR PRADESH EMERGES AS A CONFLUENCE OF INDUSTRY, INVESTMENT AND EMPLOYMENT

Under the leadership of Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, Uttar Pradesh has fundamentally reshaped its economic identity over the past eight and a half years. Strong law and order, transparent policies and technology-driven governance have demonstrated that Uttar Pradesh is no longer merely a state of potential, but a credible centre of opportunity. This transformation is precisely why global investors today view Uttar Pradesh as a dream destination.

At a time when global companies are seeking secure, stable markets with large consumer bases, Uttar Pradesh has emerged as a natural choice backed by its vast population, rising purchasing power, improved connectivity and rapidly strengthening infrastructure. Prior to 2017, the state's biggest challenge was fractured investor confidence. Industrial approvals took years, regulations were unclear and files remained stuck in offices.

Upon assuming office, the Yogi government prioritised systemic reform. The introduction of a single-window system, time-bound approvals and fixed accountability removed long-standing barriers to investment. Today, processes ranging from intent filing to letters of approval are largely digital, ensuring speed, certainty and transparency.

The results of these reforms are clearly visible in data. In the financial year 2025-26 (up to September 2025), Uttar Pradesh attracted USD 683 million in foreign direct investment. Cumulative FDI inflows since October 2019 have reached USD 2,754 million. During the current period, foreign investment inflows of ₹5,963 crore were recorded, marking a significant rise over previous years. Under the FDI-FCI Fortune 500
