

PURAVANKARA@50:

A DEVELOPER'S PERENNIAL PASSION IN SHAPING LANDSCAPES, SKYLINES & LIVES

At 50, the Puravankara Group's golden jubilee celebrations themed 'The River of Life' marks a lived experience of unbroken purpose. Behind this vision is the inspirational life and passion of Founder and Chairman Ravi Puravankara, who is dedicated to reshaping the world of real estate that bespeaks quality with a humane spirit/touch

Fifty years ago, India's real estate landscape looked staid where housing was mostly functional, often rigid and rarely aspirational. Yet in 1975, a young first-generation entrepreneur from a nondescript town dared to dream differently: homes that didn't just shelter lives, but shaped the lives within them. With courage and conviction as his companions, Ravi Puravankara, stepped into a future only he could envisage. That single iota of belief would soon gather momentum, turning into an unstoppable river that would reshape the skylines of India's most dynamic cities.

"I never set out to build buildings. I set out to build trust, dignity, and possibility for people who deserve better," recalls Founder and Chairman Ravi Puravankara, reflecting on this milestone moment.

Today, the Puravankara Group stands tall as one of India's most admired real estate developers, with 93 completed projects, 55 M sq ft., delivered, a footprint across nine cities, and a thriving community of over 80,000+ families. The golden jubilee celebrations reiterate its unbroken purpose.

Where Chutzpa Thrives

In the mid-70s, large-scale lifestyle housing was still an unfamiliar concept. Yet Ravi Puravankara saw what others didn't: an emerging India ready for quality, modernity, and luxury living.

From pioneering theme-based homes to embracing

"Our biggest milestone isn't a project, an award, or a technology. It is the five-decade-long trust we've built—and re-earned—every single day."
