IRMA
सा विद्या या विमुक्तये
INSTITUTE OF RURAL MANAGEMENT ANAND

"TRIBHUVAN" SAHKARI UNIVERSITY: PAVING THE WAY FOR THE FUTURE

The "Tribhuvan" Sahkari University (TSU) has been established through an Act of Parliament at the Institute of Rural Management Anand (IRMA) and designated as an Institute of National Importance (INI).

Named after the doyen of the cooperative movement in India, Shri Tribhuvandas K. Patel, the transformation of IRMA into the "Tribhuvan" Sahkari University marks a significant milestone in India's cooperative education landscape. This evolution aims to strengthen the cooperative movement by pr oviding specialized education, training, and research opportunities.

TSU is dedicated to:

- Provide education and training in the cooperative and allied sectors.
- Undertake specialized research and development activities.
- Offer various degree, diploma, and certificate programmes in areas related to cooperatives and rural management.
- Develop Centres of Excellence in cooperative and allied sectors.

TSU embodies the vision of "Sahkar Se Samriddhi"—to promote prosperity through cooperation—and aims to provide world-class education, research, and capacity-building for the cooperative sector across India.

Currently, the University is accepting applications to the following programmes for 2026-28:

- MBA in Rural Management by IRMA
- MBA in Agribusiness Management by the School of Agribusiness Management
- MBA in Cooperative Banking & Finance by the School of Cooperative Banking & Finance
- MBA in Cooperative Management by the School of Cooperative Management.

The programmes carry the legacy of 46 years of IRMA, a trusted alumni base of more than 5000 changemakers, as well as support to students with means-cum-merit scholarship as well as campus placements.

Prof. Saswata Narayan Biswas, Director, IRMA and Dean - School of Cooperative Management, TSU

TSU will accept CAT 2025 and XAT 2026 scores for admissions, which will be followed by the TSU Written Ability Test and Personal Interview at 16 centres across the country from 16-21 February 2026. Applications to the programmes are open till 10 January 2025.

For more details: Email: admissions@irma.ac.in | Phones: 02692-221659/221940/+91-9979891277