

INDIPOP MOMENT
Clockwise, Daler Mehndi, Lucky Ali, Malkit Singh and Bally Sagoo

Daler Mehndi

Just DALERIOUS

The non-stop man of Punjabi music swirled his way out of ballet ballets to the more sophisticated world of satellite television

FACT FILE

- A record rs 2.75 crore deal with saga sound for two years.
- Channel V's best male artiste and best album award for Ho Jayegi Balle Balle.

What's the point of making money singing rubbish?

DALER MEHNDI PUNJABI POP SINGER

INDIA TODAY
Jan. 4, 1999

impulses that decade gave rein to. India had just globalised—the iron curtains had parted, the world had come crashing in. In look, mood, colour and, most of all, in its geographical setting, Aditya Chopra's directorial debut tracks that perfectly. If self-conscious scripting accounts for the theme of two NRI kids romancing in world capitals—the very picture of American teen cool—that globalising strain is discernible just about everywhere else.

'Chhaiyya Chhaiyya', from Dil Se (1998), did it in another way. First it integrated multiple strands within India. A southie director,

ON THE SMALL SCREEN, SHARING SPACE WITH SEATTLE GRUNGE AND HIP-HOP ON MTV, A BATCH OF HOME-GROWN POPSTARS EMERGED

ARIJIT SEN

SIPRA DAS

PIYAL BHATTACHARJEE