"When it comes to making decisions, we do that collectively after thorough discussions with every stakeholder and managers. No one takes a decision single-handedly," confirms Saravdeep.

Life Beyond Lally Motors

Outside the boardroom, the Lallys remain grounded. Saravdeep begins each morning with a long walk, using the time to think through ideas and investments. He keeps up with newspapers and current affairs, has a fondness for dogs and cats, and enjoys car shows. Both he and Ripandeep are passionate football fans, with a shared allegiance to Newcastle United in the English Premier League. Their interest in automobiles extends beyond business into personal life. The family garage includes a Ferrari and a Porsche. In everyday practice, both brothers and their father choose electric vehicles for their daily commute, reflecting a conscious approach to mobility.

Later, as we head into the city, the story enters a new visual chapter — the Lallys' newly-built penthouse in Jalandhar. Designed exquisitely by Puneet Bajwa Lally, Saravdeep's wife, the space blends contemporary luxury with architectural intelligence. The home is elegant and warm, just exactly like the family. This penthouse feels like a celebration of everything the business has achieved and an inspiration for everything still to come.
