The civil war in Syria displaced millions, many of whom strove to reach the safe refuge of Europe. Images of the body of three-year-old Aylan Kurdi washed up on a Turkish beach when a migrant boat capsized shook the world. In solidarity, artist Ai Weiwei recreated the tragic scene on the Greek island of Lesbos

Author Vikram Seth poses in New Delhi after the Supreme Court overturned the 2009 Delhi High Court verdict that had nullified the colonial-era Article 377 and decriminalised homosexuality. The apex court revisited the issue in September 2018, and struck down the section partially, allowing same-sex relationships between consenting adults
