A TEAM OF WINNERS

1 SHIVAM DUBE

Seen as something of a lucky charm for India—no final has been lost with him in the XI. He played his role to perfection with the bat, particularly in the knockouts, making vital contributions, including 24 in the last over of the final.

2 WASHINGTON SUNDAR

Coming off an injury and doubts around his fitness, the all-rounder had a limited role to play in the T20 World Cup. He featured in just two group games, including the one India lost to South Africa.

3 ARSHDEEP SINGH

The squad's avid YouTube creator off the field, but a dependable seamer on it. Tasked with key spells, he delivered under pressure—picking up nine wickets and keeping the rivals in check.

4 ABHISHEK SHARMA

Entered the tournament in peak form, only to endure a nightmarish start with a hat-trick of ducks. He redeemed himself when it mattered most—the final—with a blistering 18-ball 50.

5 VARUN CHAKARAVARTHY

The 'mystery spinner' finished as the leading wicket-taker of the World Cup alongside Bumrah, though his economy rate of 9.26 was well above his career 7.55. After poor outings against top teams, he came good in the final, dismissing New Zealand's in-form opener Tim Seifert.
