

In my head, I'm still 18 or 20. It's only when I look in the mirror that I realise, no, I'm not

When I started out, I was very nervous about getting things right. I'm still nervous about getting things right

I'm a very romantic person...a sucker for mushy romantic films. I do believe in love. I feel it exists very strongly

Once I decide that this is the thing I want to do, then I just throw myself all in. Sometimes it comes out right, sometimes it doesn't

I genuinely feel all of us are blessed with multiple intelligences. Unfortunately, we measure intelligence essentially through reading and writing
