METHODOLOGY

How We Selected the Leaders

LAST YEAR, Business Today adopted profit after tax (PAT) as the key metric for ranking India's Most Powerful Women in Business. This year, we have taken that profit-led approach further by adding more parameters linked to profitability.

The process began with a universe of around 5,500 listed companies. We shortlisted companies that reported consolidated PAT of at least ₹100 crore in FY26 and excluded those that had posted a loss in FY25.

The exercise focused on women in key leadership positions, including Chairperson, Vice Chairperson, Managing Director, Joint Managing Director, Chief Executive Officer and Executive Director. Independent directors were excluded. Non-executive Chairpersons were considered only if they belonged to the promoter group. Financial data was sourced from ACE Equity, Bloomberg and CMIE Prowess.

The screening process yielded a universe of more than 130 of the most profitable companies led by women
