have access to an extraordinary range of digital content. It makes less sense to hire a B-school to hold a conventional leadership programme for a group of managers. So, the corporate question has changed from "Can you run a programme for 30 executives," to "Can you solve a specific capability problem for us?"

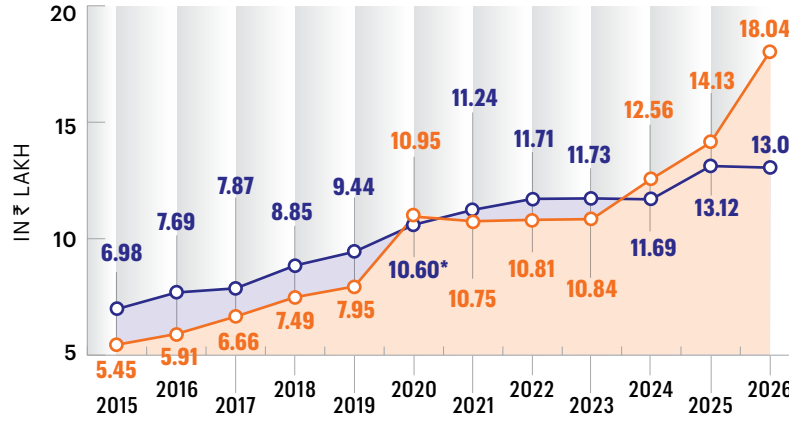

However, B-schools that have responded by customised programmes say the demand is strong. IIM Nagpur, for example, completed 17 post-graduate certificate programmes and 50 customised programmes in FY26, reaching 2,807 professionals from 739 organisations and 21 countries. Director Bhimaraya Metri puts the academic revenue for the year at more than ₹100 crore with roughly ₹37 crore coming from executive education, MDPs, consultancy and related activities. Its first blended MBA cohort comprises 83 working professionals from more than 20 states and the UAE. "We are the first in the country to launch a PG certificate programme in Cybersecurity Management. The upcoming Pune campus will deepen our engagement with industry and entrepreneurship. IIM Nagpur is planning to launch a five-year Integrated BTech-MBA programme in collaboration with premier IITs, as well as an Integrated BBA-MBA programme at the Pune campus," says Metri.

IIM-B is taking a similar route and setting up a campus in Indonesia to deliver an International General Management Programme beginning early 2027. It has taken a step forward by casting the net wider and rolling out an undergraduate programme. At present, IIM-B offers two undergraduate programmes: B.Sc. (Honours) in Data Science and B.Sc. (Honours) in Economics. "Through its undergraduate programmes, IIM-B addresses the growing demand for quality higher education and builds talent to meet key national requirements," says U. Dinesh Kumar, Director In-charge, IIM-B.

The Indian Institutes of Management (IIMs) Act, 2017, declared all IIMs as Institutions of National Importance and granted them the authority to award formal degrees. The market for executive learning is moving away from a templated product towards something closer to professional problem-solving.
