67. World Bank, Global Development Horizons 2011—Multipolarity: The New Global Economy; Justin Yifu Lin, "Are We Prepared for a Multipolar World Economy?" Project Syndicate, June 2, 2011; Jamus Lim, "A New Multipolar World Economy," World Bank Blog, May 17, 2011. Note the World Bank's multipolarity index is calculated as the normalized Herfindahl-Hirschman index of GDP and contribution to global growth shares of the top fifteen economies, computed over five-year rolling averages.

68. This assumes that South Africa's region is southern Africa. On the continent as a whole, Nigeria is more populous and has a larger GDP. However, Nigeria suffers from even more severe governance problems, so it is in no position to serve as a regional leader.

69. "Strategy for BRICS Economic Partnership," BRICS Summit, Ufa, Russia, July 8–9, 2015.

70. IMF, WEO Database (October 2015); DRC and World Bank, China 2030; and Zhu, "Understanding China's Growth."

71. WTO, "Trade Growth to Remain Subdued in 2016 as Uncertainties Weigh on Global Demand," Press release, April 7, 2016, http://www.wto.org/english/news_e/pres16_e/pr768_e.htm.

72. Richard Baldwin, The Great Convergence: Information Technology and the New Globalization (Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 2016).

73. Richard Baldwin and Javier Lopez-Gonzalez, "Supply-Chain Trade: A Portrait of Global Patterns and Several Testable Hypotheses," World Economy 38, no. 11 (2015): 1682–1721.

74. This paragraph draws primarily on Hiau Looi Kee and Heiwai Tang, "Domestic Value Added in Exports: Theory and Firm Evidence from China," American Economic Review 106, no. 6 (2015): 1402–1436.

75. Ibid. See also Xiaolan Fu, China's Path to Innovation (Cambridge, UK: Cambridge University Press, 2015).

76. Shawn Donnan, "'Peak Trade' and China's Role in 5 Charts," Financial Times, November 19, 2014.

77. Jason Dedrick, Kenneth L. Kraemer, and Greg Linden, "Who Profits from Innovation in Global Value Chains? A Study of the iPod and Notebook PCs," Industrial and Corporate Change 19, no. 1 (2010): 81–116; Baldwin and Lopez-Gonzalez, "Supply-Chain Trade"; and Brooks and Wohlforth, "The Rise and Fall of the Great Powers."

78. Baldwin and Javier Lopez-Gonzalez, "Supply-Chain Trade," 1714. See also David Autor et al., Foreign Competition and Domestic Innovation: Evidence from U.S. Patents, NBER Working Paper No. 22879, December 2016.

79. World Bank, Global Development Horizons, Capital for the Future: Saving and Investment in an Interdependent World, 2013.

80. Spencer Lake, "China Set to Overtake the US as an Outward Investor," Financial Times, June 30, 2015.

81. Simeon Djankov, "The Rationale Behind China's Belt and Road Initiative," in China's Belt and Road Initiative: Motives, Scope, and Challenges, ed. Simeon Djankov and Sean Miner, Peterson Institute for International Economics, March 2016, 6.

82. David Dollar, "China as a Global Investor," in C*hina's New Sources of Economic Growth. Vol. 1: Reform, Resources, and Climate Change*, ed. Ligang Song et al. (Canberra: Australian National University Press, 2016), 197–214.

83. Jonathan Woetzel et al., "The China Effect on Global Innovation," McKinsey & Company (2015).

84. Ibid.

85. Ibid., 18; and "Commercial Drones: Up," The Economist, April 11, 2015.