in the G8, 17;
geopolitical influence of, 41;
global investment and, 38, 126;
globalization and, 130;
hiring Western economists and consultants, 128;
holdings of, in Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac securities, 137–138; IMF and, 9, 76, 77, 81, 83–84, 168;
imperialist positions of, 189n65;
institutional quality of, 174;
international partnerships of, 125, 126;
international payments system in, 62;
international reserves of, 213n156;
intervening in Ukraine (see Ukraine, Russian intervention in);
as joiner, 9–10;
joining G7, 15–16;
military capabilities of, 37, 42;
motivations of, for BRICS participation, 126–138;
national payment card system in, 91–92;
oil futures markets in, 136;
recession in, 36;
regional position of, 127, 133–135;
relations with China, 90–91, 100, 136–138;
renationalization of business in, 131;
resilience of, 1, 131;
sanctions against, 7, 23, 71, 88–92, 107, 126, 128, 131–134;
share of, in the world economy, 127;
sovereign debt and, 132;
sovereignty of, 130–133;
state capitalism in, 130;
stock exchanges in, 48;
SWIFT and, 132–133;
transforming BRICS, 125, 126, 127;
US debt holdings of, 103;
workforce in, 36;
Z-scores in, 50
Russia-India-China, 125
Russian Economic School, 78
Rutland, Peter, 223n124
Ryabkov, Sergei, 17, 191n107

Sadovnichii, V. A., 222n114
SAFE. See State Administration of Foreign Exchange SAFE Investment Company, 120
SAIIA. See South African Institute of International Affairs
Sambo, Paula, 231n262
sanctions, 4;
BRICS' aversion to, 7 (See also Russia: sanctions against);
effectiveness of, 88–91
Sandler, Todd, 190nn74–78
Santos, Lean Alfred, 233n285