A DEATH WRAPPED IN MYSTERY

THE TWISHA SHARMA CASE

The death of 33-year-old Twisha Sharma at her in-laws' home in Bhopal on May 12 has spiralled into a national controversy. Her family alleges dowry harassment, murder and an attempted cover-up, while the in-laws maintain she died by suicide. Questions over police handling, the involvement of an influential legal family and mounting public outrage have now pushed the case into the hands of the Central Bureau of Investigation. Here's a reconstruction of events

Graphic by NILANJAN DAS / AI | Text by RAHUL NORONHA

A MATCH MADE ONLINE

Twisha Sharma, a Noida-based model and content creator, meets advocate Samarth Singh on a dating website in 2024. They get married in December 2025 in Delhi

MARRIAGE UNDER STRAIN

Cracks emerge in their marriage. Leaked chats and family interviews suggest quarrels over pregnancy and other issues. (In the high court on May 27, Twisha's parents allege the Singhs pressured her to abort, insinuating the baby was not Samarth's. Her mother-in-law Giribala Singh, a retired district judge, claims she chose the abortion herself)

THE NIGHT TWISHA DIED

On May 12, Twisha is found dead in the gym at her in-laws' Bhopal home. A call with her parents, allegedly at 9.41 pm, gets disconnected abruptly. Giribala answers it next, saying their daughter is dead. AIIMS Bhopal declares she is brought dead

SUICIDE OR MURDER?

Twisha's family swiftly reaches Bhopal, alleges dowry harassment, murder and a cover-up, and asks why the police were not informed first. Giribala says saving Twisha mattered more. CCTV footage shows CPR attempts

QUESTIONS OVER THE PROBE

On May 15, a dowry death case is filed. Giribala secures anticipatory bail (cancelled later), but Samarth's plea is rejected. He goes underground as police raise his arrest reward to Rs 30,000