

MATERIAL MAGIC

This brand is turning your living room staples into functional art, one slow-made stitch at a time

By MANSI JHA

What if you swapped paints with threads and let rattan become your canvas? That's exactly what Saumya Kashyap did with her Bangalore-based label, Vystrit. That's not all; it's also proving that 'painting with threads' exists at the intersection of art, architecture and furniture. Each piece is slow-made and tactile, with stories embedded to age gracefully. Wait, there's more. Kashyap trains local women artisans in the Veyari way, ensuring they get fair wages while keeping an endangered craft alive. Talk about the perfect glow-up for your living room and the community.
