CLE

ses you should not miss

▲ OCT. 23 | Theatres

DOOSRA

Tara (Plabita Borthakur), a young girl in a semi-rural, conservative, patriarchal household wonders if her sense of self can ever bloom under constant supervision—until she witnesses the rise of Indian cricket captain Sourav Ganguly around the turn of the millennium, his defiant ways, and the team's iconic 2002 NatWest trophy win over England.

▶ OCT. 30 | Netflix

Akka

Set in a fictional part of southern India in the 1980s, Akka is about a matriarchal gangsterdom where the women take care of home, hearth and hunting down rivals of their criminal empire. The chief is played by superstar Keerthy Suresh. A formidable challenge appears in the form of Radhika Apte. The series has been written and directed by Dharmaraj Shetty and produced by Aditya Chopra.

▼ OCT. 23 | Netflix

GAJAB RAAT

Over the course of one night, Manoj Bajpayee's harried police officer has to deal with a wounded foreign citizen thrown off a car in the middle of a busy Delhi street. Soon higher-ups get involved, including politicians, intelligence agencies, crooks and sundry colourful characters. A Neeraj Pandey (Special 26, Baby) production, it's been directed by Ritesh Shah, the writer of Pink.

◀ NOV. 20 | Theatres

Om Chapter 1: Udhiram – The Blood Wood

Tamil star Dhanush and Malayalam cinema legend Mammootty team up for a two-part action thriller involving smugglers, gangsters, intelligence agencies, policemen, and then some. The writer-director is Rajkumar Periasamy whose previous film Amaran, a real-life army story, was a superhit. Naseeruddin Shah is also part of the cast.

—Compiled by Devarsi Ghosh