

Suparna Handa
Managing Director

"Gifting, to me, is about creating a moment of genuine connection. We designed this collection as a celebration of human craft - simple, tactile pieces meant to be loved, lived with, and passed down."

The Art Of Gifting

A Collection By Sarita Handa

Sarita Handa unveils 'The Art Of Gifting,' a curated Autumn/Winter 2026 collection translating three decades of craft heritage, archival storytelling, and tactile materials into meaningful objects. The collection oscillates between wearable fashion, table settings, cosy home layers, and original textile artworks. It offers objects designed to be given and equally tempting to keep.

The collection unfolds across five distinct categories: Bags, Scarves, Table Linen, Throws, and Textile Art. Handwoven jute pairs with genuine leather and sculptural handles in everyday bags, while soft cotton scarves translate historical art, Chinoiserie, and vintage botanical studies into wearable textile storytelling. Designed for the ritual of hosting, refined table linens bring prints and hand-embroidered foliage to the dining table. Comfort is explored through knitted cotton throws featuring Aran-inspired cable knits alongside gently washed, fringed linens. Finally, original textile art treats fabric as a painter's canvas, bringing dimensional, handcrafted works into contemporary interiors.