a rating slightly higher than that of his one-time boss, Kejriwal.

There are other red flags for the prime minister and the ruling NDA. Asked to rate Modi's performance as prime minister, the proportion describing it as 'outstanding' has fallen from 35.6 per cent to 30.1 per cent. Overall, those rating his performance as 'good' to 'outstanding' have declined by 5.7 percentage points since the January MOTN, from 57 per cent to 51.3 per cent. These are still impressive figures, especially with Modi in his 13th year as prime minister and the weight of incumbency inevitably growing. But they are well below the stratospheric levels his approval ratings touched in his earlier years. Team Modi's performance rating has also dipped by 1.7 percentage points, though at 50.4 per cent, it remains creditable. Even so, the message for the NDA is clear: it needs to arrest the slow slide.

The surprise this MOTN is Tamil Nadu CM Vijay, who debuts with a 9.2 per cent rating, ahead of Mamata, Akhilesh and Kejriwal

NDA'S HITS AND MISSES

When asked to name the NDA government's single biggest achievement, respondents put political stability at the top, followed closely by the rebuilding of the Ram temple, infrastructure and development, and the delivery of a corruption-free government. There is also appreciation for the revocation of Article 370 and the government's welfare schemes. Yet some of these very strengths now come with caveats. Stability may be a virtue, but Gen Z respondents elsewhere in the MOTN make clear that they are impatient with the status quo and want change at a faster pace.

The Ram temple achievement, too, has been tainted by the 'chanda chori' (donation theft) scandal, with 46.6 per cent of respondents saying it has negatively affected their view of both the Modi government and the Yogi Adityanath-led BJP dispensation in Uttar Pradesh. And while the Modi government has not faced the kind of corruption scandals that its predecessor, the UPA, did, a striking 43.2 per cent—almost one in two respondents—believe corruption has increased under the NDA. That is another BJP advantage that recent developments have considerably devalued.

The biggest warnings, however, come from the economic front. Inflation emerges as the
